Nishant, anti-tank missile system Nag and integrated electronic warfare (EW) system for the Army. LCA and EW programme have further been affected by the sanctions imposed by the western countries after May 1998 nuclear tests.

The indigenous technologies are being developed by pooling the national resources of expertise and infrastructure. National efforts have been launched to develop the technologies affected by sanctions. Some components and subsystems affected by sanctions are being obtained through alternate sources. Additional monitoring has been introduced to expedite these projects.
